

Measuring Workplace Harassment

The data for Singapore are obtained from a Labour Force Supplementary Survey conducted by the Manpower Research and Statistics Department, Ministry of Manpower, covering a nationally representative sample of 3,000 individuals.

Findings from the survey found that in 2022, 5.4% of resident employees personally encountered harassment in their workplace.

Singapore ranks above many European countries in having a low rate of workplace harassment.

Sources:

Singapore – Supplementary Survey on Fair Employment Practices, Manpower Research & Statistics Department, MOM
EU countries – European Working Conditions Telephone Survey, 2021, Eurofound.